FAQs

How long does it take to process a claim?

The more detail you provide about the accident, the easier it will be for us to settle your claim quickly and accurately. Claims that involve more complicated settlements, such as disputes over who is liable, will take longer to process. Our goal is to keep your life moving, so we promise to work diligently to get your claim settled fairly in the shortest amount of time possible.

What if my vehicle needs to be towed?

Towing service is included in your auto policy if you have an accident. If your car is not drivable from the scene of an accident, we can assist in having your vehicle towed. It is best to have your vehicle towed directly to your shop of choice instead of a tow yard.

What if I need a rental car?

If your vehicle is not drivable or you need a rental car while your vehicle is being repaired, we can set up a reservation with a preferred rental provider who will bill us directly. You can keep the rental vehicle until repairs have been completed. We will work directly with the repair shop to monitor the status of the repairs.

How is the amount of damage determined?

We need to complete an estimate of the visible damage to determine the cost to repair your vehicle to pre-loss condition. There are several estimate options available depending on the severity of the damage. We may choose to send a NatGen Premier appraiser to inspect your car, but in many cases we can expedite the process by using our MyClaimPics photo estimate process.

What if the body shop finds additional damage not included on my estimate?

It is not uncommon to find additional loss-related damage once repairs have started. We'll work directly with the body shop to amend the estimate to include loss-related damage.

What is a total loss?

Typically, a vehicle is a total loss when the cost to repair it to its pre-loss condition is greater than the market value of the vehicle. There are many factors to consider in the total loss assessment, including the condition and mileage of the vehicle. Some state governments set a threshold based on a percentage of the vehicle's current value.

What is a Direction of Payment?

Most repair facilities have a form called a Direction of Payment. When you sign this form, you are giving the insurance company permission to pay the repair shop directly.

Why is the payment amount lower than the estimated cost of repairs?

Your policy includes a deductible that must be paid out-of-pocket before NatGen Premier pays for the balance of the repairs. This amount has been deducted from the check and is your responsibility to be paid to the body shop.

Why is my lienholder on my check?

In some states we are legally obligated to include your lienholder on the payment because they have an insurable interest in repairing your vehicle. You will need to contact your lienholder directly for more information regarding the release of the funds to begin the repair of your vehicle.

What if I am not at fault for the accident?

You can file a claim with us regardless of who is at fault. We can expedite the claims handling process and avoid any unnecessary delays. If it is determined that the other party is at fault, we will refer your claim to our subrogation department to collect the money from the other carrier. In some cases, we can waive your deductible.

What if I am injured in an accident?

Immediately advise your claim specialist of any injuries. Your claim specialist will review your policy to determine which benefits are available to help you heal.

What if the other insurance company calls me?

It is always best to speak with your claim specialist first. Discuss the facts of the accident with your claim specialist then they will advise you if it is necessary to speak with the other insurance carrier. In most cases, your claim specialist can speak with the other insurance company on your behalf.
